DETAILED ACTION

1. In the preliminary amendment filed July 29, 2003, claims 2, 3, 6-8, 10, 11 and 14-23 have been cancelled, claims 1 and 12 have been amended, and new claims 28-32 have been added.

Therefore, claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 are examined.

Claim Rejections-Obviousness Type Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1, 4, 5 and 9 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-12 of U. S. Patent 6,113,915. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1, 4, 5 and 9 in the instant application disclose a method for treating burn pain, the method comprising administration of a botulinum toxin to a mammal. This is obvious variation in view of claims 1-12 of the patent which disclose a method for treating pain, comprising intraspinal administration of a therapeutically effective amount of a botulinum toxin to a mammal. Both sets of claims cite a method of treating pain such as burn pain, comprising administration (e.g., intraspinal administration) of a botulinum toxin. Thus, claims 1, 4, 5 and 9 in present application and claims 1-12 in the patent are obvious variations of a method of treating burn pain, comprising administration of a botulinum toxin.

3. Claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 of co-pending application 10/630,206. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 in the instant application disclose a method for treating burn pain, the method comprising administration such as peripheral administration of a botulinum toxin to a mammal. This is obvious variation in view of claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 of the co-pending application which disclose a method for treating pain, comprising administration such as peripheral administration of a botulinum toxin to a mammal. Both sets of claims cite a method of treating pain such as burn pain, comprising administration such as peripheral administration of a botulinum toxin. Thus, claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 in present application and claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 in the co-pending application are obvious variations of a method of treating burn pain, comprising administration of a botulinum toxin.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1653

4. Claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
5. Claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 12, 13 and 28-32 are indefinite because the claims lack essential steps in the method for treating burn pain. The omitted steps are the effective amount of a botulinum toxin used and/or the outcome of the treatment. Claims 4, 5, 9, 13, 28-30 and 32 are included in the rejection because they are dependent on a rejected claim and do not correct the deficiency of the claim from which they depend.
6. Claim 9 is indefinite because of the use of the term "substantially alleviated". The term "substantially alleviated" renders the claim indefinite, it is not clear to what extent the pain is alleviated because neither the specification nor the claim defines the term.
7. Claim 32 is indefinite because the claim is dependent from a non-existing claim, claim 33.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 1, 4, 5, 12, 13, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over by Coe et al. (US 2001/0036943, based on provisional application 60/195,738 filed April 7, 2000).

Coe et al. disclose a method of treating a disorder or condition in which pain predominates including burn pain in a mammal by administering a pain attenuating effective amount of a pharmaceutical composition comprising a nicotine receptor partial agonist, an analgesic agent and a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier (paragraph [0272]), where a botulinum toxin can be used as an analgesic agent (paragraph [0001]; claims 1, 4, 5), and the composition can be administered locally including intramuscular administration (paragraph [0283]; claims 12, 13, 28 and 29). Since the reference suggests the use of a botulinum toxin as the analgesic agent for treating a pain condition such as burn pain, thus, at the time of invention was made, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to administer a botulinum toxin to an mammal for the treatment of burn pain, which results in the claimed invention and was, as a whole, prima facie obvious at the time the claimed invention was made.
